

PRESS RELEASE · Montpellier, July 2026

Softer than a swingers' site, freer than a mainstream social network, more intimate than a dating app.

WishPride, the intimate adult social network with no nudity, has been open to the public since June 2026. A caring community for talking about desire and intimacy through words — designed with women especially in mind, but open to all adults (couples, LGBTQ+ individuals, the curious of all backgrounds) —, available in 6 languages at wishpride.com.

An unmet need. Many adults want to talk about desire, curiosity and intimacy without being judged. But swingers' sites are transactional and intimidating, mainstream social networks censor the topic (shadowban, deleted accounts), and dating apps reduce everything to the swipe. The result: silenced voices, and creators living in constant fear of losing their account.

A different approach: words first. On WishPride, everything starts with a sentence, never with a photo. People express themselves through stories, conversations and tasteful photos, join themed groups, and a private conversation only opens when they choose. No swipe, no mandatory match — just expression and community, in a respectful space, especially for women.

"Zero NSFW" — a choice that is both ethical and strategic. A strict rule prohibits all explicit nudity, verified by AI before publication. Restricted to ages 18 and over, privacy-first, hosted in the European Union and committed to regulatory compliance (GDPR, DSA, AI Act), the platform remains accessible to the general public — where explicit platforms are excluded from app stores and standard payment providers.

"My partner and I were looking for a softer place to talk about desire — not a dating site, not a network that censors. Since it didn't exist, I built it: a space without nudity, designed first and foremost so that women feel respected and safe. Here, freedom means freedom of speech."
